The new Santander Work Café in Jersey is the banking institution's first major high street location in the Channel Islands. It offers a unique face-to-face experience for customers and the business community in St Helier and comprises co-working spaces, meetings rooms and a vibrant barista coffee bar.

The banking space is designed to provide customers with a better experience in a comfortable and open environment, and is the work of Santander's in-house architects, Jose Miguel Perez Tallon and Ruben Sesmero Blanco. They worked with fit out contractor Style Shopfitting, to specify Amtico Signature LVT, which was fitted by Marett Floorcraft.

Amtico produced a bespoke floor design for the project, utilising products from the Signature collection to zone areas, while also keeping the space open and accessible, for meetings and networking.

Original layout

When considering the design for the new Work Café, Santander's in-house architect team wanted to experiment with a new floor pattern to bring together the informal meeting and co-working spaces on the ground and first floors. Amtico produced a bespoke version of its Aspekt laying pattern, using shards of Signature in Worn Oak, Solar Pine and Exposed Concrete for an ultra-modern and urban look to inspire visitors, create specific zones and link the two floors of the building. The design blends into Worn Oak, laid in Stripwood, to aide wayfinding and subtly connect different areas while complementing the colour scheme.

Precise installation

Amtico's Signature collection is included in Santander's UK standard retail specification and is chosen for its durability, easy maintenance and wide range of aesthetics inspired by woods and stones. To assist with installing its designs, Amtico provides a breakdown of the materials needed to help with the order and installation. The Signature LVT was cut to fit the dimensions required, which supported a sleek and straightforward installation experience, which gave the overall aesthetic a terrific finish.

Laying Pattern

Aspekt

Using a unique mix of shards and triangles, Aspekt creates illusions of scale through geometric shapes and clever colour combinations, which can be used for wayfinding in large spaces, or as a decorative feature. Amtico's in-house design team produced a bespoke version of Aspekt to emphasise the transition between different materials and areas of the project.

Bold, dynamic and beautiful, a bespoke floor can be tailored to a project's requirements. Amtico's advanced cutting capabilities and unrivalled range of products – made in the UK – allow for intricate bespoke designs to be made from LVT.

Laying Pattern

Stripwood

The simple Stripwood laying pattern, paired with the delicate sandy grain texture of Worn Oak, creates a sense of movement and ties together the bespoke design, aiding wayfinding throughout the branch, leading to meeting rooms and co-working areas.

Bold statements. Big ideas. What our clients say.

"The custom laying patterns in the Work Café gave us the opportunity to install an Amtico Signature design that is completely unique. It is always exciting to be involved with a bespoke project, and the overall appearance at the Work Café looks terrific."

"The huge range of Amtico products – particularly their versatility – allowed us to create a new bespoke gradient pattern to emphasise specific areas. The transition created between different materials helped us to enhance one of the key concepts of the project, which is the mix of different uses within the Santander Work Café, including the co-working spaces, meeting rooms, ATM banking facilities and a café."
