This project by our Hungarian business partner, Top Trade, shows an all-round successful office concept in Budapest.

The interplay of natural tones with lots of wood and different shades of green create a biophilic design that is absolutely in line with the trend for modern working environments. Three different designs from the Amtico Spacia collection were chosen to fit a total of 140 m².

In addition to geometric shapes within a wooden herringbone pattern, soft transitions were integrated in the stone area to support a relaxed atmosphere. Individual curves were cut to underline the interior concept and make this floor covering something quite unique.

Featured Pattern:

Uniform Tile

For an eye-catching design such as terrazzo, this understated laying pattern is the perfect match. Uniform Tile shows aligned rows of square tiles, allowing the design to stand out perfectly. It also lets the curved transition between the two stones appear clearly.

Featured Pattern:

Herringbone

Herringbone is a timeless but contemporary pattern, and often used to provide subtle wayfinding throughout. It remains a popular choice and can be installed with all standard sizes that Amtico offers. If you are looking for a smaller herringbone look, simply select one of our two predefined parquet sizes.
