Amtico Décor

The Brunswick Book Club, located in the heart of Leith, has been inspired by the community's long history and culture.

The recently opened bar pays homage to Leith's character and its location overlooking the historic library. Its design is bursting with character and provides a charming space to create stories and memories.

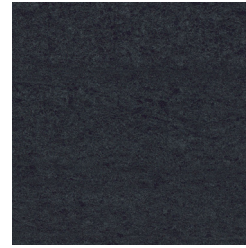

"At Brunswick Book Club, the black-and-white patterned vinyl flooring from Amtico played a crucial role in tying together the venue's vibrant yet nostalgic design. Its durability and versatility make it an ideal choice for the high-traffic hospitality space, seamlessly blending style with functionality. The flooring adds a playful contrast to the cosy, book club-inspired interior, enhancing the venue's welcoming charm and making it a standout feature of this much-loved community destination."

Featured Pattern:

Victorian Star Otto DC471

This geometric design features a considered colour combination and an intricate star pattern; it creates a style which is reminiscent of authentic Victorian flooring. It beautifully aligns with the overall aesthetic of Brunswick Book Club, with its design inspired by the location's history. The black and white palette creates an impactful space, which leaves a lasting impression.
